Doordarshan is the India's premier public service broadcaster with more than 1,000 transmitters covering 90% of the country's population across an estimated 70 million homes. It has more than 20,000 employees managing its metro and regional channels. Recent years have seen growing competition from many private channels numbering more than 65, and the cable and satellite operators (C & S). The C & S network reaches nearly 30 million homes and is growing at a very fast rate. Doordarshan's business model is based on selling half-hour slots of commercial time to the programme producers and charging them a minimum guarantee. For instance, the present tariff for the first 20 episodes of a programme is Rs. 30 lakhs plus the cost of production of the programme. In exchange the producers get 780 seconds of commercial time that he can sell to advertisers and can generate revenue. Break-even point for producers, at the present rates, thus is Rs. 75,000 for a 10 second advertising spot. Beyond 20 episodes, the minimum guarantee is Rs. 65 lakhs for which the producer has to charge Rs. 1,15,000 for a 10 second spot in order to break-even. It is at this point the advertisers face a problem – the competitive rates for a 10 second spot is Rs. 50,000. Producers are possessive about buying commercial time on DD. As a result the DD's projected growth of revenue is only 6-10% as against 50-60% for the private sector channels. Software suppliers, advertisers and audiences are deserting DD owing to its unrealistic pricing policy. DD has three options before it. First, it should privatize, second, it should remain purely public service broadcaster and third, a middle path. The challenge seems to be to exploit DD's immense potential and emerge as a formidable player in the mass media.

Carry out SWOT analysis and justify your answer.

Case Study #2

Paper is different from other waste produce because it comes from a sustainable resource: trees. Unlike the minerals and oil used to make plastics and metals, trees are replaceable. Paper is also biodegradable, so it does not pose as much threat to the environment when it is discarded. While 45 out of every 100 tonnes of wood fibre used to make paper in Australia comes from waste paper, the rest comes directly from virgin fibre from forests and plantations. By world standards this is a good performance since the world-wide average is 33 percent waste paper. Governments have encouraged waste paper collection and sorting schemes and at the same time, the paper industry has responded by developing new recycling technologies that have paved the way for even greater utilisation of used fibre. As a result, industry's use of recycled fibres is expected to increase at twice the rate of virgin fibre over the coming years.

Already, waste paper constitutes 70% of paper used for packaging and advances in the technology required to remove ink from the paper have allowed a higher recycled content in newsprint and writing paper. To achieve the benefits of recycling, the community must also contribute. We need to accept a change in the quality of paper products; for example stationery may be less white and of a rougher texture. There also needs to be support from the community for waste paper collection programs. Not only do we need to make the paper available to collectors but it also needs to be separated into different types and sorted from contaminants such as staples, paperclips, string and other miscellaneous items.

Complete the below Passage. Read the task preface carefully. You have to solve the passage by filling in the spaces with words from the passage. Choose One or Two Words from the Passage for each answer. Write your answers on your answer sheet.

From the point of view of recycling, paper has two advantages over minerals and oil. in that firstly it comes from a resource which is (i) _____ and secondly it is less threatening to our environment when we throw it away because it is (ii) _____. Although Australia's record in the re-use of waste paper is good, it is still necessary to use a combination of recycled fibre and (iii) _____ to make new paper. The paper industry has contributed positively and people have also been encouraged by (iv) _____ to collect their waste on a regular basis. One major difficulty is the removal of ink from used paper but (v) _____ are being made in this area. However, we need to learn to accept paper which is generally of a lower (vi) _____ than before and to sort our waste paper by removing (vii) _____ before discarding it for collection.
