4. What is wrong with the logic of the following statement? "How can you believe his testimony? He is a convicted felon!"
 - (a) The fact that the person testifying was convicted of a crime does not mean he is lying.
 - (b) A convicted felon cannot testify in court.
 - (c) The person speaking has a bias against criminals.
 - (d) The person speaking obviously did not attend law school.
5. What is wrong with this argument? "You think we need a new regulation to control air pollution? I think we already have too many regulations. Politicians just love to pass new ones, and control us even more than they already do. It is suffocating. We definitely do not need any new regulations!"
 - (a) The person speaking doesn't care about the environment.
 - (b) The person speaking has changed the subject.
 - (c) The person speaking is running for political office.
 - (d) The person speaking does not understand pollution.

Q.6 Do as directed.

1. Demonetization, instead of exposing the shadow economy, has strengthened it. [06]

Do you agree or disagree with the statement? Write arguments to support your point of view. Support your argument with examples and facts. Keep in mind that each of your arguments should be as convincing as possible.

2. Read the following situations and write your response for each. Use your critical thinking skills to arrive at a conclusion. Write your response in detail with proper justification. [06]

- a) On 7 January 2015 Corrine Rey, a cartoonist at the French satirical magazine Charlie Hebdo, and known by the name "Coco," returned from picking up her daughter from kindergarten. She was confronted by two French Jihadist gunmen, who threatened to shoot her daughter unless she keyed in the entry code at the door for the magazine. She did; and the gunmen entered to murder twelve people, including two policemen, as well as shooting eleven others. During the attack, the shooters said that they would not kill women, but that they needed to convert to Islam and wear a veil.

Should Corrine Rey have been willing to sacrifice her daughter and herself rather than allow obvious murderers to enter the magazine and possibly kill everyone? Can a mother be blamed for only thinking of protecting her child?

- b) Ken is a doctor. One of his patients, whom he has diagnosed as HIV positive, is about to receive a blood transfusion prior to being released from the hospital. He has told Ken, in the confidence of their doctor-patient relationship, that after he gets his transfusion, and his medicine from Ken, he intends to infect as many people as possible with HIV starting that evening.

Because Ken is bound by doctor-patient confidentiality, there is no legal way to stop this man from carrying out his plan. Even if Ken warned the police, they would not be able to arrest him, since his medical information is protected.

It occurs to Ken that he could contaminate his medication by putting an untraceable poison in it that will kill him before he gets a chance to infect others.

Should Ken poison this man in order to prevent him from spreading HIV?
